PARTICIPATION IN TEACHING ACTIVITIES & SYMPOSIA

International:

| | |
|----------------|---|
| 2020 – present | Primary Faculty Leader – Study and Travel in Human Development and Family Studies. HDFS 4380 (12 hrs.), Fall only. Semester Study Abroad, Technological University Dublin (Ireland). Under development. Students will take the Auburn University equivalent of 12 credit hours at Technological University Dublin in Early Childhood Care and Education or Social Care courses (comparable to HDFS courses). This 4 ½ month semester experience will offer a culturally rich learning environment in the area of Human Development and Family Studies. |
| 2018 – present | Primary Faculty Leader – Global Study/Travel in Human Sciences in Italy (graduate level). HUSC 6940 (3 hrs.). Global Perspectives on Teaching and Research, Spring 2020 (3-17 May), [Cancelled mid-March 2020 – COVID-19 pandemic]. Anticipated Spring 2022 (early May). Primarily College of Human Sciences graduate students. It takes place in association with the Joseph S. Bruno Auburn Abroad program at the Palazzo Chigi in Ariccia, Italy. Graduate students from all CHS majors/programs have opportunities to interact with university faculty and graduate students from Rome, earn a graduate certificate in global leadership, spend time with professionals in their fields, learn in the classroom setting about various topics including globalization/internationalization of university teaching and research, and have rich opportunities for cultural immersion throughout central Italy. |

2018 – present Primary Faculty Leader – Global Study/Travel in Human Sciences in Peru (undergraduate). HUSC 5940 (3 hrs.) Intercultural Studies in Peru, Spring 2019 (27 December 2018 - 6 January 2019). Fall 2019 (11-21 December) [Cancelled mid-November 2019 – civil unrest in Peru]. Anticipated Fall 2022/Spring 2023 (December 2022/January 2023). Students gain professional and cultural experience and awareness by participating in excursions to various historic, cultural and environmental sites in Peru. The College of Human Sciences is committed to educating socially responsible global citizens who thoroughly understand the value of working across borders, analyzing information from a variety of perspectives, approaching problem solving in non-ethnocentric ways, and understanding the complexity of issues facing individuals, families, and communities. In support of this commitment and ideal, this course is designed to offer our undergraduate students the opportunity to reach beyond the classroom and to take part in cultural experiences and educational tours. Students will be asked to participate in in-depth reflections on their experiences and show how the knowledge gained will inform their future as professionals in their respective fields. This international experience is an opportunity for students to gain firsthand knowledge of cultures and environments outside of the United States.

Traditional:

2018 Selected to participate in Course (Re)Design Institute (Face-to-face, week-long seminar). Biggio Center for the Enhancement of Teaching and Learning, Auburn University.
